Rotary Hears DiSalle Defend Tax Program

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle defended his state tax program in an address to the Circleville Rotary Club at noon yesterday in the Elks Home.

About 75 Rotarians and 25 guests attended the meeting.

Gov. DiSalle declared that for the first time since World War II the state is on a cash basis. He predicted that at the end of his four-year term the State of Ohio will owe less than it does now and will be providing better services.

He also predicted that Ohio and a pair of neighboring states, not identified, would exceed California and Florida in per cent of growth within 10 years.

The governor went into detail to explain why more money is needed by the state. He stated that in 1959 the state government returned $133 for each man, woman and child in Pickaway County.

MORE THAN $4,000,000 came to Pickaway County in 1959 from the State of Ohio, he said. He gave the breakdown for previous years and 1958, the last year for which figures are available:

State aid to local government, ($1947) $622,845, (1958) $111,509, for a increase of $488,664; payments to school districts (1952) $544,677, (1958) $809,124 for a increase of $264,446.

Ohio-for-Adlai Group Set Up

Faction Plans Draft At Dem Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio friends of Adlai Stevenson announced for four months to promote a draft at the Los Angeles convention for the twice-defeated Democratic presidential nominee.

The group—The Ohio Citizens' Committee to Draft Stevenson—has organized in Cleveland, Cincinnati and Columbus. Similar groups are active in Wisconsin, Texas, New York, California and the District of Columbia.

The group issued a statement announcing its formation and expressing regret at the action of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle in bidding for the role of Ohio favorite son pledged to the presidential candidacy of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

The statement came from S. Burns Weston of Cleveland and Mrs. Carl Nielsen and Richard E. Liming of Columbus. It asserted:

"We believe that Adlai Stevenson is not only the strongest candidate, but the most qualified man in either party to be president of the United States.

"Draft—Stevenson committees have been under organization in Cincinnati, Cleveland and Columbus since last September, but had withheld announcement pending a statement of intentions by the government.

"We regret decision which we believe denies Ohioans a voice in their party's choice of candidates.

"The Citizens' Committee to Draft Stevenson has been formed in the conviction that no decision can remove Ohio from the main stream of American politics.

"We believe that Adlai Stevenson is the choice of Ohioans he is of citizens throughout the country—that he will be drafted for the nomination, and that he will be elected to the presidency."

2 Bodies Sought In Airliner Debris

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP)—A huge derrick goes back into action again today in the search for the remaining two bodies of 34 persons killed when an airliner crashed near here.

The derrick was trundled across a mucky field to the wreckage of the National Airlines DC-8 Thursday. An attempt to lift the wreckage was made, then, but a piece of the ship fell and officials decided to try again today.

The plane fell on a small farm near Bolivia Wednesday.

All aboard were killed.

In 1947 no money was returned to the county for persons in receiving hospitals because the state had none. In 1958 there were 17 persons in receiving hospitals at a cost of $94,435. In state hospitals for prolonged care in 1947 were 17 patients at a total cost of $9,129. In 1958 a total of $25,380 was returned to the county for 20 patients in hospitals.

There were two patients in a state school from Pickaway County in 1947 at an annual cost of $758. In 1958 two patients were in a state school at a cost of $2,434.

A total of 237 dependent children received aid of $67,881 during 1947, Gov. DiSalle said, while in 1958 a total of 488 dependent children were

Aid for 949 aged persons in Pickaway County in 1947 cost $461,276 for an average award of $41.42. During 1958 aid for 638 aged was $497,002, a $57.14 average award.

In 1958 the county received $680,016 from motor fuel and license funds. There was no return to Pickaway County in 1947.

DISALLE said that at the end of WW II the state had built up a surplus of $213,000,000, principally because of increased values during the war when money could not be spent since most materials and services were not available.

He said the state borrowed $150,000,000 at one time and $550,000,000 at another since the war. All told, a total of $860,000,000, was spent over and above income in that

Some Ohio Democrats Wish Lausche Would Just Go Away

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the Ohio Democrats supporting Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) will feel lot better if Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) stays out of the May presidential primary.

So will Kennedy. His entire strategy, say some of his backers, will have to be changed if he hopes to win all—or even most—of Ohio's 64 Democratic presidential delegates.

In the view of one of Kennedy's admirers, Rep. Charles A. Vanik (D-Ohio), it would no longer be enough for Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to lead a slate of Kennedy candidates as favorite son.

Instead, Vanik says, Kennedy would have to have his own name on the ballot and would be campaigning in Ohio himself if Lausche goes through with his threat to run a slate of Lausche delegates.

The outcome? Vanik frankly concedes Lausche would be a formidable opponent, but he believes Kennedy could win. But even so, he says, the fight could get so many Democrats mad at each other that the chance for the White House would be hurt seriously.

"The only candidate, in my opinion, who can successfully take on Vice President Richard M. Nixon is Sen. Jack Kennedy," Vanik told an interviewer.

"This can only be achieved if Democrats very quickly close ranks and stop fighting each other."

Lausche obviously sees this whole thing differently. It's his view that DiSalle and the others are dictating Kennedy as the only choice to Ohio Democrats.

Should he decide to run as a favorite son, a campaign of this sort would be made to order for him. A favorite theme of Lausche through the years has been what he calls boss rule. It is not hard to imagine him applying this to the scene of the pivotal battle of the 1960 campaign," Vanik says.

Senate Dems Renew Jibes At Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of northern and western Democratic senators said today it expects to have a bigger voice in party strategy and legislation this session.

But Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said he does not consider as a challenge to his leadership the demands made by the liberal group at a meeting of Democratic senators Thursday.

"I don't think it has anything to do with it one way or another," he told newsmen after the two-hour meeting.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill), spokesman for the protesting group, said Johnson had agreed to call more meetings of all Democratic senators—a point on which he was challenged last year. A motion to require more meetings was not put to a vote.

Action was delayed on another motion—to require election by the senators rather than appointment by Johnson of new members of the potent Democratic Policy Committee.

The nine-member policy group, now headed by Johnson, held a stop and go control over business that comes before the Senate. Johnson, Assistant Leader Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) and Sen. Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo), Secretary of the Democratic conference, are ex-officio members.

Of the six other members, Johnson said he has named two while the other four are holdovers on the continuing body.

Ohio City Hailed By Religious Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Religion in American Life, Inc., a non-sectarian organization devoted to increasing worship attendance at all churches and synagogues, today named Warren, Ohio, as the "Community of the Year."

The organization said Warren, selected from among 454 cities and towns throughout the nation which held Religion in American Life community campaign during the year, was honored for holding the best all-around program.

Worship attendance increased an average of 12 per cent in the participating houses of worship in Warren, the organization said. They included 24 Protestant, three Roman Catholic, two Eastern Orthodox churches, and one synagogue.

About 40 per cent of the ward's 3,600 Democrats are Negro.

Ortique thinks his chances are only slim in the seventh ward where about 25 per cent of 28,000 Democrats are Negro.

Neither Ortique nor Wheeler campaigned on integration, but both said they personally favor it.

Budget Surplus May Alter U.S. Money Policy

Drop in Interest, Loosening of Credit Seen as Possibilities

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $4,200,000,000 budget surplus which President Eisenhower foresees for the next fiscal year portends important long-range changes in the "tight money" situation worrying Wall Street and Main Street.

Officials of financial agencies said today a surplus of that size probably would have one of two effects: Bring about a drop in interest rates—now at the highest level in a generation—or make it possible for more Americans to obtain the loans they want.

Thus the budget secret which Eisenhower Thursday slipped into his State of the Union Message to Congress holds important implications for all borrowers and lenders, and for the economy as a whole.

But that would be in the future. Meantime his call for a continuing battle against inflation indicates no immediate easing of the credit situation.

Eisenhower estimated record peacetime spending of $79,800,000,000 in the 1961 fiscal year which begins July 1. However, he said revenues will exceed that figure by $4,200,000,000 to produce the biggest budget surplus in 13 years.

What's more, the President said the current fiscal year will show a 200-million-dollar surplus despite revenue losses caused by the steel strike.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Springfield man, who FBI agents said threatened a New York executive with a slow, agonizing death, was arrested here Thursday night on a charge of attempted extortion.

Howard J. McCall was nabbed in a bus depot.

Ed D. Mason, in charge of the FBI's Cincinnati office, said McCall, former Ohio representative for a firm headed by Leonard C. Lane, had threatened Lane with death unless he paid $30,000.

Once debt reduction becomes a normal practice, he continued, "We can profitably make improvements in our tax structure and thereby truly reduce the heavy burdens of taxation."

The surplus would depend not only on high revenues but also on willingness in Congress to forego either tax cuts or heavy new spending programs.

Some Democrats and a few Republicans expressed doubt that the $4,200,000,000 surplus can be achieved. If it does become a reality, however, here's how it will affect the credit situation:

In the current calendar year, the government would be able to reduce the debt by a modest amount. This would compare with an eight-billion-dollar addition to the debt in 1959.

Some Democrats and a few Republicans expressed doubt that the $4,200,000,000 surplus can be achieved. If it does become a reality, however, here's how it will affect the credit situation:

However, Eisenhower's new budget is based on the assumption of unprecedented prosperity in 1960. And prosperity means that businessmen and individuals probably will be borrowing more money—to build factories, buy houses and finance new autos.

The increase in private demand for loans thus might offset the reduction in the government's demand and tend to keep interest rates at the present levels or even higher ones.

But with a balanced federal budget, the Federal Reserve Board might be inclined to relax some of its current restrictions on the supply of credit.

Popularity Section Results May Tip Off Decision in November

CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — The names of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), Vice President Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (R-NY) were injected into New Hampshire's first-in-the nation presidential primary today.

Enthusiastic supporters of Kennedy entered him in the popularity poll section of the March 8 balloting, which will provide the first clue to voter sentiment in this presidential election year. Kennedy also filed a slate of delegate candidates pledged to vote for him at the Democratic National Convention.

At the same time, several Nixon backers filed as candidates for seats at the Republican nominating convention. Their names will be listed in the GOP delegate contest as "favorable" to Nixon.

Nixon forces plan to enter his name in the preference poll Saturday, the vice president's 47th birthday.

In another major development that could mean trouble for Nixon, several pro-Rockefeller Republicans leaped into the GOP delegate battle by filing for convention seats as "favorable" to the New York governor.

They said Republicans ought to have a chance to choose between Nixon and Rockefeller despite the fact that Rockefeller says he will not fight the vice president for the GOP presidential nomination.

A person whose name is filed as a candidate in the popularity poll has the right, within 10 days, to order it withdrawn. His permission also is required for a convention delegate to run as pledged to him. No permission is needed for a delegate hopeful to run as favorable to the candidate.

Democratic National Committeeman Bernard L. Boutin of Laconia delivered the official nomination petitions to the secretary of state's office minutes after the opening of the primary filing period.

"This is the first step in a campaign that will make Jack Kennedy the next president of the United States," Boutin declared as Kennedy backers cheered and applauded.

Veteran political writers were agreed on this much: If Kennedy doesn't sweep the New Hampshire primary, it will be one of the biggest political surprises in the state's history.

Clifton Motor Sales Observes 50th Year of Car Business

Clifton Motor Sales, 119 S. Court, will observe 50 years of dependable automobile business during 1960.

From a humble beginning in 1910 in a barn in an alley off W. Main St., the firm has progressed to its present day two modern locations here.

The business was originated by E. E. Clifton, a prominent dealer here and in Columbus until his death about two years ago.

Taking an optimistic viewpoint, the local dealer said he hopes to do his part in making 1960 another successful business year in Circleville.

quality service and quality financing, along with an honest reputation and honest advertising.

A MAIN factor at the firm is stressing good and complete maintenance service for every automobile sold. A modern garage and trained personnel provide the facilities and the manpower.

The test was set for April 23. The study course, to be given in all county and city high schools, covers the fundamental facts concerning beverage alcohol.

High School Temperance Exam Slated

Pickaway County school executive heads and supervising principals yesterday decided to conduct the Ohio Temperance League examination given every two years.

The Rev. Lewis Berger Columbus editor and publisher of the Temperance League study course, spoke before the group in the Ashville School.

The test was set for April 23. The study course, to be given in all county and city high schools, covers the fundamental facts concerning beverage alcohol.

The governor said the state needs to have better control over monies returned to the local governments. He declared that 40 per cent of the money goes back to local governments without any type of state supervision. "That's no way to handle the taxpayer's money," he stated.

"You can't spread money throughout the state by formula. Some goes to communities where it is needed and some goes to communities where it is not needed. If the state collects the money it must know where it goes. This will take a lot of study and work, but it will be done."

He explained that state supervision will not mean the weakening of local government, but better distribution of funds.

The governor gave smooth answers to some pithy questions during an open session following his 20-minute speech.

He told Dr. E. L. Montgomery that his throwing the Democratic delegation to Sen. Jack Kennedy is the most Democratic way of doing things. He said the race in Ohio is open to any candidate and they know the conditions they face here.

He said the new Department of Industrial and Economic Development will entice industry to Ohio by cooperating with local Industrial Development groups and industries.

Richard Heckert, DuPont plant manager, told the governor that "industry is not naive. We must maintain a favorable tax climate. We don't want another Michigan situation here."

DiSalle said that if an industry is looking for a site in two states, one active and the other passive, it will choose the state which is courting industry.

SUCCESS AND OPPONITION IN THE LABORS OF THE GREAT MISSIONARY, ST. PAUL

Scripture—Acts 14.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

of like passions with you, and preach unto you that ye should turn from these vanities unto the living God, which made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all things that are therein."—Acts 14:11-15.

In spite of the apostles' words, and their teaching them of God and Christ, "Scarce restrained they the people, that they had not done sacrifice unto them."—Acts 14:18.

And there came thither certain Jews from Antioch and Iconium, who persuaded the people, and, having stoned Paul, drew him out of the city, supposing he had been dead. However, as the disciples stood around about him, he rose up, and came into the city; and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

"And when they had preached the gospel to that city, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and Antioch, confirming the souls of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom.

Last week's lesson ended with Paul and Barnabas shaking the dust of Antioch from their feet and making their way to Iconium, 85 miles away.

"And it came to pass in Iconium, that they went together into the synagogue of the Jews, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Jews and also of the Greeks believed. But the unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles, and made their minds evil affected against the brethren. Long time therefore abode they speaking boldly in the Lord, which gave testimony unto the Word of His grace, and granted signs and wonders to be done by their hands."—Acts 14:13.

The multitude of the city was divided, however, part holding with the Jews and part with the apostles. When the apostles' enemies, both Gentiles and Jews, sought to stone them, they learned of it and fled to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and the region round about, and preached the gospel there. —Acts 14:4-6.

They then passed through Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia, then from Perga and Attalia, went they to Antioch, "from whence they had been recommended to the grace of God for the work which they had fulfilled."

"And when they were come, and had gathered the church together, they rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how He had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles."

"And there they abode long time with the disciples."—Acts 14:10-28.

So Paul, greatest of all Christ's disciples, faced opposition and death to bring the message of Jesus Christ to the world. What can we do to teach our children in our homes and in the Sunday school to follow the Master's teachings? If the teachers could secure large maps of Paul's travels, it would be helpful to the classes.

"And they rent their clothes and ran in among the people crying out . . . Sirs, why do ye these things? We also are men."

SUCCESS AND OPPOSITION IN THE LABORS OF THE GREAT MISSIONARY, ST. PAUL

Scripture—Acts 14.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

PAUL OF TARSUS, whose life we study today, was a man who, because of his abilities, "would have had a position in the university there; he could have become a famous rabbi with a good income, or a successful business man. He abandoned all this, and toiled, endured hardship, suffered rebukes—all for the sake of the gospel." I quote from Poloske's Select Notes, written by the Rev. Wilbur M. Smith, whose comments on the lesson are so helpful.

Last week's lesson ended with Paul and Barnabas shaking the dust of Antioch from their feet and making their way to Iconium, 85 miles away.

"And it came to pass in Iconium, that they went together into the synagogue of the Jews, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Jews and also of the Greeks believed. But the unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles, and made their minds evil affected against the brethren. Long time therefore abode they speaking boldly in the Lord, which gave testimony unto the Word of His grace, and granted signs and wonders to be done by their hands."—Acts 14:18-23.

The multitude of the city was divided, however, part holding with the Jews and part with the apostles. When the apostles' enemies, both Gentiles and Jews, sought to stone them, they learned of it and fled to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycania, and the region round about, and preached the gospel there.—Acts 14:4-6.

In Lystra they found a man crippled from birth, who had never walked. He heard Paul speak, and Paul "beholding him, and perceiving that he had faith to be healed, said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped and walked."

When the people saw this miracle, they thought Paul and his companions were gods come down to earth. When the apostles, Barnabas and Paul, heard this they "rent their clothes, and ran in among the people crying out . . . Sirs, why do ye these things? We also are men

Lifting A-Ban Necessary

The United States moratorium on nuclear weapons tests has been replaced by an indefinite suspension that leaves Uncle Sam free to resume testing after notice to the world. This decision by President Eisenhower was both inevitable and necessary.

Since the opening of current talks by the United States, Great Britain and Russia at Geneva, aimed at putting an end to testing, Moscow has had what it sought at the beginning, a ban with neither inspections nor controls. There is no certainty that Moscow will not resume testing, or that it has not conducted underground tests difficult to detect.

A long extension of the moratorium might have prevented further development of small weapons. Long before the Geneva conference there were warnings nuclear weapons for national security, and at least one member of the Atomic Energy Commission asserted that a ban on small weapons testing would be "reckless in the extreme."

But the U. S. stopped testing, along with Great Britain and presumably Russia, in the hope of creating an atmosphere at Geneva in which meaningful agreements could be reached. What America wanted was a treaty with safeguards that would make violation without detection impossible. Moscow has resisted this, and the Geneva talks are stalled.

With no other wise course open, and no agreement in sight at Geneva, the President decided in favor of realism. The United States shall be free to continue research that will be necessary as long as there is no tight treaty.

I turn to a page of the "Celebrity Register" to see whether I am in it. On the two pages that face me are Carmel Snow who edits "Harper's Bazaar" and is one of the most charming of human beings. It says of her that she is "considered the last of the giants in fashion journalism."

This makes a distinction between famous and celebrated, between distinguished and notorious. For instance, this book of celebrities is very different from "Who's Who" which is the American standard publication of persons of achievement. The person whose name appears in "Who's Who" which is the American, which he is given an opportunity to correct from time to time. I am sure that if he were caught lying, his name would be thrown out. The "Celebrity Register" issued no questionnaire. Its own staff wrote the copy. "Who's Who" has no pictures.

The "Celebrity Register" is also different from the "Social Register" which is now a publication unrelated to reality. Society has disappeared in the United States. In its place is a hodge-podge of personalities thrown together for all sorts of reasons, few of them relating to heredity and class consciousness which are the earmarks of any Society. It used to be that no one was invited to dinner between famous and celebrated, between distinguished and notorious. Following her is C. P. Snow who is a British scientist, author, government official and about everything else. Then comes my colleague, Louis Sobol, a thorough journalist who now writes about Broadway characters. Then comes Arkady A. Sobolev, the Soviet representative at the United Nations, a stern-looking fellow. His picture shows him to be a humorless man.

Then I went along and found an account of Princess Soraya, which was interesting because all I knew of the lady was that she did not bear the Shah a son. Maybe, it was the Shah's fault. But immediately under her story is a record of Pitirim Sorokin, the most brilliant sociologist of our day. He is so far ahead of his colleagues in this field that his writings are prophetic and many of his prophecies have already proved themselves.

And then I saw a sketch of Jacques Soutelle, a man who has long fascinated me. Soutelle is an anthropologist, but he is also a shrewd politician and he it was who worked up the situation that brought de Gaulle back into the political life of France. I first heard of this man from Vladimir Jabotinsky, the leader of the Revisionist Zionists who sparked many of the incidents in Palestine which made it possible for Israel to become a state.

LAFF-A-DAY

Care of Daily Emergencies

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Two of the most common day-emergencies which are likely to confront you are nosebleeds and fainting. In one, you try to halt the flow of blood; in the other, you try to stimulate it.

Usually a nosebleed is not really a serious emergency, but you will want to try to stem the flow of blood just the same.

First thing to do is to have the person with the bleeding nose sit in a chair with his head tossed back as far as is comfortable. Loosen his collar and tie. Then apply a cold wet cloth over the nose and call your family physician.

Maybe you can help a clot to form by pressing firmly on the side bones of the nose for about five minutes.

If this fails to halt the flow of blood, I suggest that you pack the nostrils loosely with sterile gauze. Allow enough of the end of the gauze to protrude from the nostrils so that you can easily remove it when you want to.

Even though you succeed in stopping the hemorrhaging, call a doctor if the bleeding has been severe or prolonged.

Although it would be somewhat unusual, you might have to turn from one emergency to another, since some persons become faint at the sight of blood.

Fainting is caused when blood is withdrawn from the brain. Therefore, you probably can stop a fainting spell or revive someone who already has fainted simply by getting the blood flowing back to the head again.

If someone complains that he feels faint, have him lie down or sit in a chair and bend forward with his head between his knees.

Once a person becomes unconscious, other measures are in order. Sprinkle his face with cold water to speed circulation and use smelling salts sparingly if they are available.

Ordinarily, he will revive within a few minutes. Then you can give him a cup of hot coffee or tea.

If a person doesn't become conscious again within a matter of minutes, call a doctor right away.

What sadistic pleasure one could get out of that! In the Big City where men and women appear and disappear and no one knows parents or grandparents or kith or kin, men and women come into one's life about whom one really knows nothing. Every friendship is bound to be experimental. One cannot ask, "Were you ever in jail?" One takes his friendships where he finds them.

This is particularly true in what is called Cafe Society where suddenly one is confronted by a Princess or a Countess or something. What a lovely time the ladies who like to gossip would have if there were a book to show the authentic names of current celebrities.

5th Grade Students, Teachers Face Problems

This is the fifth in a series of 12 articles explaining the problems faced by the Pickaway County School system. They are written to help you, as parents, understand the problems of your child and his teacher.

BY ROBERT SEWARD
County General Supervisor

To you, as a parent, it probably seems that only a short time ago your child was in the first grade and it is difficult to realize that he now is in the fifth grade.

But your fifth grade child probably feels he is an upperclassman in his elementary school, and rightfully so, as his growth socially, emotionally, and intellectually has been tremendous since that first day he entered school.

Your fifth grade child's growth characteristics are continually changing. Girls continue to gain in maturity over boys. The desire to associate with members of the same sex and an attitude of antagonism toward the opposite sex is prevalent.

Boys, especially, like to participate in organized group games. A few other growth characteristics of fifth graders are:

TO BE MORE conscious of physical characteristics that deviate from normal; to appear self-confident but inwardly to feel insecure; to develop "hero worship" of older people;

To be impatient and become angry quickly which makes them susceptible to accidents, and to take on more responsibilities.

As your child grows older he becomes a more complex and unique individual, which makes it more difficult to understand his problems and to understand why he behaves in a certain manner.

To effectively administer the fifth grade program, our fifth grade teachers are confronted with the problem of understanding, each year, 30 individual boys and girls who are more dissimilar than similar.

Your fifth grade teacher is a specialist in child development. She not only has wide knowledge of the general characteristics of fifth grade children, but she learns to understand your child, as an individual, through countless hours of objective observation and by study of his cumulative record.

Each year she has to determine such things as, why Mary is hesitant to speak before the class, why Jimmie is always doing little things to attract attention, why Sally has difficulty with her arithmetic and why John picks on smaller children.

ONCE SHE HAS acquired these understandings, she can better promote the development of her classroom children in the knowledge and skills of the fifth grade program.

The fifth grade curriculum provides for a correlation of language arts, which consists of reading, English, spelling, and writing; arithmetic; social studies, which includes geography and history; science, health and safety; art; music and physical education.

In the reading program, phonetic principles of syllabication, and principles of accent are strengthened and extended. Much time is devoted to developing the skills of comprehension and interpretation.

Such dictionary skills as locating entries, determining the appropriate definition from context clues, using pronunciation symbols and keys, identifying root words from derived forms, and determining accent are developed in the fifth grade reading program.

The development of phrase reading and scanning are continued and children are instructed as to when to skim material and when to read material for detail.

Skills necessary to express oneself before a group and to individuals are enlarged and strengthened in the oral communication program. In the area of written communication, the use of capitals and punctuation marks are further developed.

AN understanding of the function of nouns, pronouns, adjectives and verbs are worked out with such detail.

These above written English skills are applied to compositions along with such skills as writing sentences with simple subjects and predicates, writing proper paragraphs, making simple outlines with sub-topics, making reports, and writing letters with correct form.

Provisions are provided in the fifth grade for research work with encyclopedias and other reference material which involves simple outline notes. Spelling skills and the mechanics of handwriting are improved and both are correlated with the fifth grade program.

The arithmetic skills of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division are reviewed and larger place numbers are used. Short division, fractions and decimals are taught in the fifth grade arithmetic program.

The fractional skills developed are understanding fractional terms, changing the terms of a fraction, reducing a fraction to its lowest terms, changing improper fractions to mixed numbers, adding and subtracting like fractions and mixed numbers, adding and subtracting unlike fractions and mixed numbers with one denominator being common and using fractions to express remainders in division.

An understanding of decimal

place values to hundredths and addition and subtraction of tenths and hundredths are introduced. Measurement skills, vocabulary and habits of accuracy and speed are extended.

THE UNITED States of America is the topic to be explored in the fifth grade social studies program. The aims of the program are: to impart knowledge of significant historical events, people and groups of people who have contributed to the present development of our country;

To learn about centers of population, political subdivisions, occupations, and industries and to learn the various climatic conditions and the various topographies of our country and how these affect our ways of living.

The science - health - safety program calls for unit study of food, body controls, science hobbies, personality development, first aid and safety, learning, wildlife and natural resources and science of water transportation.

Art and music programs are correlated with the total program and in most instances, facilities are available for an adequate physical education program.

One of the ways you, as a parent, can assist your child, in his intellectual development, is to provide suitable home study conditions. We do not wish to become involved in the topic, "homework vs. no homework", as both sides of the argument have many good points of merit.

Many schools provide outside of school assignments for their children in the intermediate grades and many schools do not. If your school is one of those that does provide homework, now is the time to develop correct home study habits for your child. Do not wait until your child reaches high school and then attempt to change faulty study habits.

IT IS ALSO important that your child learns to budget his study time. The habit of spending the majority of the time on subjects he likes and then rushing through the subject areas which are difficult for him is not desirable.

Fourth, there are times when you as a parent should help your child with his homework. This is not meant to imply that you are to do the work for the child.

Often times a child needs help in developing understanding and can secure the help from his parents. You, as a parent, need to guard against becoming a "crutch" for your child which enables him, when he encounters a little difficulty, to have you solve his problem with any effort on his part.

Many fifth grade children experience great difficulty in understanding fractions in arithmetic. You can benefit your child by helping him understand such things as what 1/4 or 1/16 means and why he changes the denominator of a fraction in adding unlike fractions.

But you will not benefit your child by working his assignments for him and sending it to school under his signature so that he can bring home a better grade on his report card. Helping your child develop correct home study habits at study during his favorite program, his study may consist of nothing more than reading words.

Third, it is advisable for your child to first work on the subject or area of instruction with which he has the most difficulty or dislike for.

5th Grade Students, Teachers Face Problems

This is the fifth in a series of 12 articles explaining the problems faced by fifth grade students and their parents. They are written to help you, as parents, understand the problems of your child and his teacher.

BY ROBERT SEWARD
County General Supervisor

To you, as a parent, it probably seems that only a short time ago your child was in the first grade and it is difficult to realize that he now is in the fifth grade.

But your fifth grade child probably feels he is an upperclassman in his elementary school, and rightfully so, as his growth socially, emotionally, and intellectually has been tremendous since that first day he entered school.

Your fifth grade child's growth characteristics are continually changing. Girls continue to gain in maturity over boys. The desire to associate with members of the same sex and an attitude of antagonism toward the opposite sex is prevalent.

Boys, especially, like to participate in organized group games. A few other growth characteristics of fifth graders are:

TO BE MORE conscious of physical characteristics that deviate from normal; to appear self-confident but inwardly to feel insecure; to develop "hero worship" of older people;

To be impatient and become angry quickly which makes them susceptible to accidents, and to take on more responsibilities.

As your child grows older he becomes a more complex and unique individual, which makes it more difficult to understand his problems and to understand why he behaves in a certain manner.

To effectively administer the fifth grade program, our fifth grade teachers are confronted with the problem of understanding, each year, 30 individual boys and girls who are more dissimilar than similar.

Your fifth grade teacher is a specialist in child development. She not only has wide knowledge of the general characteristics of fifth grade children, but she learns to understand your child, as an individual, through countless hours of objective observation and by study of his cumulative record.

Each year she has to determine such things as, why Mary is hesitant to speak before the class, why Jimmie is always doing little things to attract attention, why Sally has difficulty with her arithmetic and why John picks on smaller children.

ONCE SHE HAS acquired these understandings, she can better promote the development of her classroom children in the knowledge and skills of the fifth grade program.

The fifth grade curriculum provides for a correlation of language arts, which consists of reading, English, spelling, and writing; arithmetic; social studies, which includes geography and history; science, health and safety; art; music and physical education.

In the reading program, phonetic principles of syllabication, and principles of accent are strengthened and extended. Much time is devoted to developing the skills of comprehension and interpretation.

Such dictionary skills as locating entries, determining the appropriate definition from context clues, using pronunciation symbols and keys, identifying root words from derived forms, and determining accent are developed in the fifth grade reading program.

The development of phrase reading and scanning are continued and children are instructed as to when to skim material and when to read material for detail.

Skills necessary to express oneself before a group and to individuals are enlarged and strengthened in the oral communication program. In the area of written for using capitals and punctuation marks are further developed.

AN understanding of the function of nouns, pronouns, adjectives and verbs are worked out with such detail.

These above written English skills are applied to compositions along with such skills as writing sentences with simple subjects and predicates, writing proper paragraphs, making simple outlines with sub-topics, making reports, and writing letters with correct form.

Provisions are provided in the fifth grade for research work with encyclopedias and other reference material which involves simple outline notes. Spelling skills and the mechanics of handwriting are improved and both are correlated with the fifth grade program.

The arithmetical skills of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division are reviewed and larger place numbers are used. Short division, fractions and decimals are taught in the fifth grade arithmetic program.

The fractional skills developed are understanding of fractional terms, changing the terms of a fraction, reducing a fraction to its lowest terms, changing improper fractions to mixed numbers, adding and subtracting like fractions and mixed numbers, adding and subtracting unlike fractions and mixed numbers with one denominator being common and using fractions to express remainders in division.

An understanding of decimal

place values to hundredths and addition and subtraction of tenths and hundredths are introduced. Measurement skills, vocabulary and habits of accuracy and speed are extended.

THE UNITED States of America is the topic to be explored in the fifth grade social studies program. The aims of the program are: to impart knowledge of significant historical events, people and groups of people who have contributed to the present development of our country;

To learn about centers of population, political subdivisions, occupations, and industries and to learn the various climatic conditions and the various topographies of our country and how these affect our ways of living.

The science - health - safety program calls for unit study of food, body controls, science hobbies, personality development, first aid and safety, learning, wildlife, natural resources and science of water transportation.

Art and music programs are correlated with the total program and in most instances, facilities are available for an adequate physical education program.

One of the ways you, as a parent, can assist your child, in his intellectual development, is to provide suitable home study conditions. We do not wish to become involved in the topic, "homework vs. no homework", as both sides of the argument have many good points of merit.

Many schools provide outside of school assignments for their children in the intermediate grades and many schools do not. If your school is one of those that does provide homework, now is the time to develop correct home study habits for your child. Do not wait until your child reaches high school and then attempt to change faulty study habits.

IT IS ALSO important that your child learns to budget his study time. The habit of spending the majority of the time on subjects he likes and then rushing through the subject areas which are difficult for him is not desirable.

Fourth, there are times when you as a parent should help your child with his homework. This is not meant to imply that you are to do the work for the child.

Often times, instead of a better performance on the part of the child, it brings on frustration which results in insecurity, bitterness.

Third, it is advisable for your child to first work on the subject or area of instruction with which he has the most difficulty or dislike for.

A CHILD, who is experiencing difficulty in certain aspects of his school work because of limited abilities, cannot be stimulated to greater heights by being made to compete against the record of a more talented and successful brother or sister.

ness, and jealousy.

It is important that parents realize the limitations and abilities of their children. You can better understand your child and his school world by visiting his classroom and by visiting with his teacher. Your teacher can better understand your child, and thus do a better job in providing for his development by conferring with you.

Next week's article will concern itself with the sixth grade, the problems confronted by a sixth grader and how his parents may best help him in both school work and his teenage problems of growing up.

The impact sent a high chair occupied by Michael Page, 1, sliding gently across the room. Other members of the family scattered when they saw the car careening into the house. No one was hurt.

The car, driven by Charles Walter Cottam, 71 St. George, was involved in a collision at a nearby intersection and the vehicle sped 90 feet, jumped a two-foot wall and smashed into the Page home.

Officers said three walls on the residence would have to be rebuilt.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Husband Acts Foolishly

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a situation like this? My husband gives a "birthday party" every year for his first wife who has been dead for nine years. He invites all their old friends. Everyone knows what the celebration is. It includes a trip to the cemetery.

I have no objections to my husband visiting his first wife's grave whenever he wants to. But this "birthday party" really gets me.

SECOND WIFE

DEAR SECOND: You DON'T have to go. And neither does anyone else. Your husband is digging pretty deep for an excuse to throw a party. Tell him to discontinue this foolishness.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and Howie is 25. We had two dates and got along just fine together. After the second date he said he thought we'd better not see any more of each other because I was "TOO NICE". How can a girl be "too nice", Abby? What do you think he meant by this?

TOO NICE

DEAR TOO: A girl can't be "too nice". What he meant was that HE wasn't nice enough. Believe him.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two children. For the past eight years I have been fed up to the teeth with youngsters calling me by my first name. I teach my children to call the parents of their friends, "Mr. and Mrs. So and So." But their friends do not return this courtesy.

My husband doesn't like it either. He is a professional man and he is called "Mister" at the office. But when he comes home he is greeted by some little 5-year-old punk with, "Hi ya, Max!" This lack of respect is disgusting. What do other adults think of this?

IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: Not all adults resent children calling them by their first names. Some even prefer it. But if this irritates you and your husband, please remember that this is no indication of their respect, or lack of it. They simply haven't been taught otherwise. I suggest that you ask these children in a kind and loving way to call you and your husband "Mr. and Mrs. So and So."

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Evans left Kingston Saturday morning for their new home in Tampa, Fla.

They were dinner guests the evening of New Years Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davis and sons.

Additional guests of the Davis' were Mr. and Mrs. David Evans and three children.

Mrs. John Morgan entertained the Civic Club at her home on Tuesday evening. The president, Mrs. Kenneth Timmons conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Raymond Davis was elected secretary to take the place of Mrs. Ernest Kline who is moving out of town. Mrs. Edward Flugge was elected to membership.

Personal health cards in connection with the physical fitness program were distributed to members.

The Secretary was asked to write to the Pickaway County officials requesting that a stop sign be erected at the intersection of Wolfe Road and the County Line Road.

Rosemary Lyons, a sophomore at Kingston High School, was presented and given an interesting account of her trip to Chicago, in November, as one of the Ohio delegates to the National 4-H Congress.

AMONG OTHER things she spoke of being entertained by several celebrities, among them were Pat Boone, Herb Shriner and The Kingston Trio.

At the close of the meeting there was a surprise layette shower for Kristina Kay, the new baby girl who has come to live at the Dwight Davies.

Members attending were Mrs. Raymond Davis, Mrs. Dwight Davis, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. Jack Reisinger, Mrs. John B. Thomas, Mrs. Carroll Minor, Mrs. Kenneth Timmons, Mrs. Groves Whitten, Mrs. Fred Likens, Mrs. Clarence Lyons, Mrs. Marvin Mitchell, Mrs. Robert Rounseley, and the hostess, Mrs. Morgan.

Last Monday was the last meeting of the School Board before its re-organization. At this time Mrs. Kenneth Timmons and the "old" board members and the "new" members were entertained at dinner at the Fox Farm by Supt. Ralph McCormick and Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett, clerk of the Board.

My husband doesn't like it either. He is a professional man and he is called "Mister" at the office. But when he comes home he is greeted by some little 5-year-old punk with, "Hi ya, Max!" This lack of respect is disgusting. What do other adults think of this?

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will hold its regular January meeting next Wednesday.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Husband Acts Foolishly

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a situation like this? My husband gives a "birthday party" every year for his first wife who has been dead for nine years. He invites all their old friends. Every one knows what the celebration is. It includes a trip to the cemetery.

I have no objections to my husband visiting his first wife's grave whenever he wants to. But this "birthday party" really gets me. Do you think I have to go?

SECOND WIFE

DEAR SECOND: You DON'T have to go. And neither does anyone else. Your husband is digging pretty deep for an excuse to throw a party. Tell him to discontinue this foolishness.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and old and Howie is 25. We had two dates and got along just fine together. After the second date he said he thought we'd better not see any more of each other because I was "TOO NICE". How can a girl be "too nice", Abby? What do you think he meant by this?

TOO NICE

DEAR TOO: A girl can't be "too nice". What he meant was that HE wasn't nice enough. Believe him.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two children. For the past eight years I have been fed up to the teeth with youngsters calling me by my first name. I teach my children to call the parents of their friends, "Mr. and Mrs. So and So". But their friends do not return this courtesy.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will hold its regular January meeting next Wednesday.

Weather permitting, the meeting will be held at the country home of Mrs. Marvin Jones on the Hallsville Road.

DEAR IRRITATED: Not all adults resent children calling them by their first names. Some even prefer it. But if this irritates you and your husband, please remember that this is no indication of their respect, or lack of it. They simply haven't been taught otherwise. I suggest that you ask these children in a kind and loving way to call you and your husband "Mr. and Mrs. So and So." Children

Big 'O' Is Good Even on Bad Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Even when he has a bad night in scoring—that is if you think 27 is bad—Oscar Robertson is a tough man to beat.

The versatile All-American collected only 27 points—13.7 under his record scoring average this season—but showed his class as a “feeder” in sparking unbeaten Cincinnati to a 76-69 Missouri Valley Conference victory over the Shockers at Wichita Thursday night.

Robertson made only nine points in the first half but set up his teammates with just as devastating effect for a 47-29 lead. Wichita kept whittling Cincy’s margin in the second half but the Big O, guarded closely by 6-10 Gene Wiley and 6-4 Ron Heller, popped in 8 points to preserve Cincinnati’s unbeaten record.

Cincinnati, the nation’s No. 1 team and one of the four unbeaten major quintets, now has an 11-0 record. The Bearcats lead the Mo Valley with a 2-0 mark.

Robertson and Co. move to Tulsa Saturday for a clash with the Hurricanes who proved surprisingly tough against Bradley’s fourth-ranked club at Tulsa. The Braves found it difficult to beat Tulsa 71-58.

Most of Thursday night’s major action was concentrated in the potent Missouri Valley Conference. In the other MVC contests, 12th-ranked St. Louis (9-3) outclassed Houston, 74-46, and Drake whipped North Texas State, 85-73, despite Jim Mudd’s 35-point performance for the losers.

The Miami (Fla.) Hurricanes (12-1), ranked 14th, edged Iona 69-67 on stubby Dick Hickox’ 30-footer from the side at the final buzzer. St. Joseph’s of Philadelphia made up a 16-point deficit in whipping St. John’s (NY) 82-77.

In scattered action elsewhere, the Air Force (1-6) scored its first victory of the season, downing Omaha U., 90-41; Furman hit on 50 per cent of its shots for a 60-69 win over Clemson; Georgia downed Georgia Southern 83-75 on Phil Simpson’s 18 points and 10 rebounds; Memphis State thumped Oklahoma City 81-68, and Kentucky Wesleyan nosed out Tennessee State, 109-107.

Coaches on Ethics Panel Take Look at Hayes Fuss

NEW YORK (AP)—Whether it was him they were talking about they wouldn’t say, but it was an obviously agitated Woody Hayes who was seen leaving the American Football Coaches Assn.’s Ethics Committee room here.

The Ethics Committee, meeting in conjunction with the NCAA convention, issued this report Thursday:

Concerning the “alleged striking of a sports writer,” the disposition of the case was made known verbally to the individual involved.

Hayes, Ohio State’s head coach, was accused last season of striking a Pasadena writer after OSU lost 17-0 to Southern California.

The committee, after reviewing 11 cases involving alleged malpractices by member coaches, said of this particular one:

“It is appropriate at this time to point out that Article VI, Section 1 of the Code of Ethics of the AFCA states that it is a responsibility of the coaches to accredited writers and radio and television commentators to provide news about their teams and players.

“They should be treated with courtesy, honesty and respect. However, it is the unanimous feeling of this committee that a coach has the right to maintain locker room security.”

The “however” provision would seem to leave the hassle between Hayes—if that’s whom the committee aimed its statement at—and West Coast sports writers as moot an issue as ever.

Shown the report by The Associated Press, Hayes said:

“If from this report, the implication is taken that I actually struck the man, then the implication is wrong. If the ethics committee feels that I should not have shoved the man out of the dressing room area, then they are entitled to their opinion.

“If I had struck the man, he would have known it—maybe later, but he would have known it.”

Hayes has contended all along he only shoved the reporter and that the writer was invading post-game locker room privacy. The writer charged that he was outside the dressing room proper and was punched.

The Ethics Committee played it safe by describing the case at hand as having occurred “in the vicinity of a locker room.”

13 Minor Leaguers Due In Tribe Test

CLEVELAND (AP) — General Manager Frank Lane is hoping at least one of 13 minor leaguers invited to Tucson for spring training with the Cleveland Indians will impress enough to be kept with the club all season.

Lane pointed to the record of pitcher Jim Perry, an unheralded farmhand on a similar training staff last year and now an established major leaguer.

The 13 trainees heading for Arizona include nine pitchers. Three of the pitchers have trained with the Tribe in previous years.

A pitcher considered likely to make the grade is Ed Drapcho, a 24-year-old southpaw. His record last season with Mobile in the Southern Assn. was 11-6 with an earned run average of 2.23.

The others invited to Arizona and the club with which they played last year are:

South Is Favored In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Collegiate stars from throughout the country will clash in the 11th annual Senior Bowl game Saturday in what the weatherman says will be ideal football weather.

The forecast is for clear skies with the temperature probably in the 50s for the televised meeting of 25-man squads representing the North and the South.

The South is a 3 1/2-point favorite to win its seventh game in the senior bowl series, in which the players become pros. Members of the winning team will receive $600 each, the losers $500 each.

Nearby Residents Say Jets Ruining Laundry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Here’s a new jet-age hazard.

Residents at nearby Millbrae complained Wednesday that their homes and laundry are being sprayed by smoke from airplanes taking off from San Francisco International Airport.

Some Millbrae residents said their homes are only 300 yards from takeoff runways and that runways and that jet smoke is resulting in some very dirty laundry.

Fazeiras, 20, a hard-throwing righthander from Lorain, will be making his second trip to the western camp. So will southpaw Allen and righthander Guerra.

“If I had struck the man, he would have known it—maybe later, but he would have known it.”

Hayes has contended all along he only struck the reporter and that the writer was invading post-game locker room privacy. The writer charged that he was outside the dressing room proper and was punched.

The Ethics Committee played it safe by describing the case at hand as having occurred “in the vicinity of a locker room.”

13 Minor Leaguers Due In Tribe Test

CLEVELAND (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane is hoping at least one of 13 minor leaguers invited to Tucson for spring training with the Cleveland Indians will impress enough to be kept with the club all season.

Lane pointed to the record of pitcher Jim Perry, an unheralded farmhand on a similar training stint last year and now an established major leaguer.

The 13 trainees heading for Arizona include nine pitchers. Three of the pitchers have trained with the Tribe in previous years.

A pitcher considered likely to make the grade is Ed Drapcho, a 24-year-old southpaw. His record last season with Mobile in the Southern Assn. was 11-6 with an earned run average of 2.23.

The others invited to Arizona and the club with which they played last year are:

Pitchers Robert Allen, Reading; George Denyer, Batavia; Bill Fazekas, Reading and Burlington; Tom Gansauer, Batavia; Julio Guerra, Reading; Robert Gordon, Selma; David Tyrer, Mobile; and James Weaver, Burlington; shortstop Mike De La Hoz, Reading and San Diego; second baseman Steve Jankowski, San Diego, and catchers Allen Jones, San Diego, and James Lawrence, Minot.

Fazekas, 20, a hard-throwing righthander from Lorain, will be making his second trip to the western camp. So will southpaw Allen and righthander Guerra.

Nearby Residents Say
Jets Ruining Laundry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Here's a new jet-age hazard.

Residents at nearby Millbrae complained Wednesday that their homes and laundry are being sprayed by smoke from airplanes taking off from San Francisco International Airport.

Some Millbrae residents said their homes are only 300 yards from takeoff runways and that runways and that jet smoke is resulting in some very dirty laundry.
